About the Hall of Fame

Since 1994, Colonie Central High School graduates — like the ones listed here — have been honored in our CCHS Hall of Fame. The inductees represent a variety of high school classes and accomplishments.

The purpose of the Hall of Fame is to identify role models for our students and to illustrate to them that South Colonie Schools provide the educational foundation necessary to build a successful life.

Please help us in nominating a Hall of Fame candidate. All nominees are acknowledged and, if not selected the first year, remain in an active pool of nominees for a period of five years. For more information contact the main office.

HALL OF FAME INDUCTIONS: 1994

Ralph Boyd, Jr.

• Class of 1975

Ralph Boyd has been a federal prosecutor and assistant United States attorney. He has prosecuted cases involving domestic terrorism, bombings, narcotics trafficking, federal firearms violations and gang-related violence. A graduate of Harvard Law School, he spent a great deal of time speaking to law classes about criminal law issues and supervising student interns. He also counselled inner-city youth on the importance of education, developing positive values, and the inevitable consequences of committing serious crimes.

Charles Campagna

• Class of 1973

Chuck Campagna was the first professional football player out of Colonie Central High School. After graduating from American International College he played for the New England Patriots of the NFL, and the Hamilton Tiger Cats and Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League—despite 14 hamstring injuries. He has been vice president of national and international accounts for the largest lighting manufacturer in the world. He has been active in the March of Dimes and Special Olympics.

Brian Casey

• Class of 1967

As a D.A.R.E. officer with the Colonie Police Department, Brian Casey touched the lives of many children in South Colonie. After graduating from Hudson Valley Community College, he served in the U.S. Navy for two years, completed Basic Officer Training and attended the FBI Academy's Special Tactical Training Firearms School. He spent countless hours counseling students on the dangers of drugs and alcohol and the importance of wearing seatbelts and bicycle helmets.

John Gregg

• Class of 1957

John Gregg has five degrees including a D.D.S., an M.S. in Anatomy and Oral Surgery and a Ph.D. in Anatomy and Neurobiology. He has been published more than 75 times and has served as a consultant to dozens of hospitals and advisory boards. A nationally known oral surgeon, he has been a full professor at the University of North Carolina and an adjunct professor at Virginia Tech University and the University of Maryland. He has worked in the practice of oral and maxillofacial surgery research at Virginia Tech University.

HALL OF FAME INDUCTIONS: 2001

No Inductees

HALL OF FAME INDUCTIONS: 2002

James J. Morrell

• Class of 1962

James Morrell has been the owner of seven automobile dealerships, 27 radio stations and nine other businesses in the Capital District area. He was honored in 2002 with the Trefoil Award for work with the Girl Scouts of America and is a former Man-of-the-Year for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization. He was awarded the Dr. Egon Plaeger Humanitarian Award from Siena College and the Danny Thomas Humanitarian Award from St. Jude Children's Hospital.

Professionally, Morrell was named Time Magazine's "Dealer of the Year" by the National Automotive Dealers Association and was president of the New York State Automobile Sales Association.

In addition to managing 43 different businesses, Morrell has continued to find time to "give back" to the community in an attempt to improve the quality of life. One of the many examples is that his Albany Broadcasting Company (ABC) sponsored the building of a Habitat for Humanity house. This property was a home valued at more than $100,000 and donated to a needy family as part of the Habitat for Humanity program. After the September 11th attacks on America, ABC also gave away 120,000 American flags and raised $120,000 in money and supplies for the New York City disaster relief efforts.

While attending CCHS, Morrell was President of the Student Council and was a member of 23 school clubs and organizations. He continued his involvement at Siena College where he graduated in 1966.

Joseph 'Chuck' Zarriello
